

Recently I had the privilege of doing business with Morgan Construction. While meeting with various roofing contractors I was impressed with the business ethics, their knowledge and the information they provided helped me to determine they were the most qualified. I appreciated the time they took to explain each step of their process and they left me feeling confident in making my decision. They gave me time to review their proposal, choose the roofing tile, arrange a day and time to finalize the contract and schedule the day and time to complete my roofing repair. They were very professional, made sure to clear up any mess that was made, the project manager touched base with me throughout the day to report their progress and provide a level of professionalism I greatly appreciated.

I highly recommend Morgan Construction to anyone needing home repairs. They have knowledgeable employees, a great work ethic and reasonable pricing options.

I am extremely satisfied with my business dealings with them and would hire them again if the need arose.
